

Dr. Neva Helena Alexander is a Leadership Development Consultant, educator, corporate trainer, author, and speaker. With a Doctorate in Educational Leadership, she brings a research-based, practical, and people-centered approach to developing stronger leaders, more effective teams, and healthier workplace cultures.

About Dr. Neva

As the Founder of Nevalliance, a certified MWBE leadership development company, Dr. Neva specializes in leadership training, consulting, coaching, and growth-driven organizational development experiences. She partners with companies, nonprofits, and institutions to design and deliver programs that enhance communication, strengthen leadership capacity, support employee engagement, and cultivate high-performing, inclusive environments.

A respected author and TEDx speaker, Dr. Neva is known for her ability to translate leadership theory into clear, actionable strategies that professionals can immediately apply. Her workshops and trainings equip employees at every level with the tools to navigate change, lead with confidence, and contribute meaningfully to organizational goals.

Since 2017, she has also hosted the International Women's Conference at Hofstra University, a signature Long Island event that elevates diverse voices in leadership and fosters community connection.

Through the Nevalliance Foundation, Dr. Neva advances her mission to empower women and strengthen communities through impactful programs and events.

Dr. Neva Helena Alexander continues to support organizations seeking to build stronger leaders and cultivate workplace cultures rooted in excellence, collaboration, and strategic vision.

Media Contact

✉ info@nevalliance.com

🌐 www.nevalliance.com

📍 Based in New York | Serving Globally

Let's connect and build something impactful together.

